ANDREW MARANISS

SPORTS FANS! BASKETBALL FANS! HISTORY BUFFS!

MEET THE AUTHOR!

Texas School for the Deaf
1:00 pm—2:00 pm Deaf Smith Center

Andrew Maraniss will visit TSD! An Austin High School graduate, his book, a New York Times best seller, is a fast-paced, insightful biography of Perry Wallace - the inspirational true story of the first African American to play college basketball in the deeply segregated Southeastern Conference. Wallace's story is a powerful moment in Black history.

Maraniss is a sports writer, former sports information director for Vanderbilt University's baseball and basketball teams and former media relations manager for the Tampa Bay Rays baseball team. He continues to contribute to ESPN's sports and race website, The Undeclared, and has appeared on national TV and radio programs (ESPN, NBC, MSNBC, NPR, SEC Network and more).
